ICY CRASH TODAY. The ice-covered roadway on the Route 3 overpass north of North Street was the apparent cause of a one-car accident at 7:20 this morning. Robert P. Methowson, 41, of Florissant, Mo., was injured when his southbound car went out of control and struck the guardrail in foreground. He was treated and later admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Numerous minor accidents were reported last night and early today, caused by the sub-freezing temperatures and snow on this—the first full day of spring.

State talks of local tax hike

Governor James R. Thompson is warning local officials that municipal real estate taxes may have to go up by an average of 22 percent to make up for lost state funding under the proposed fiscal year 1984 state budget (July 1983 to June 1984).

In a letter to mayors, county board presidents and village presidents across Illinois, the governor last week said several programs at the local level that had been supported by state funds would no longer receive funding if new state revenues are not found.

He urged that they contact their representatives in the General Assembly in support of money for local governments.

"Regrettably, this budget takes a step backward from the state-local partnership we have created throughout Illinois, by eliminating $234 million in local revenue sharing funds to cities and counties," Thompson said.

"Under the limits of the next budget, the state simply can no longer afford to fund underwriting local services funded in the past."

"Unless we are able to find alternative revenues to replace these funds, cities and counties will have to absorb these costs. And in most cases, the only alternative will be an increase in property taxes or local user fees."

"In fact, it has been estimated that, on average, municipal property taxes would have to rise by 22 percent to make up for the lost state aid.

"Without additional state support, many job training programs will be lost or forced to depend on increased property tax support."

"Local law enforcement units will have to take over more of the costs of supporting law enforcement crime laboratories, because the state budget will only provide enough for investigations of the most urgent cases."

"My tax plan if enacted will allow local government revenue sharing to be restored. It can continue to grow as income tax revenues increase in the future."

"In times of pressure for increased services—and resistance to local tax increases—this revenue sharing increase is desperately needed by many cities and counties," the governor said.

He also told local officials that his plan to increase revenue for roads and bridges can mean an increase of between $50 million and $75 million annually to "assist local governments in meeting their match for increased federal aid and other highway needs."

Thompson outlined his four-year financial plan last week, asserting that it meets current and future state obligations while providing modest program growth over the next four years.

"This plan, based on the tax increases I have proposed, provides illinois with a sound basis for restoring important services that we otherwise will be forced to eliminate without a tax increase," the governor said.

"At the same time, it allows us to meet our obligations and restore to an acceptable level our general funds balance."

"But everyone also must realize that even with new taxes, not every program we have funded in the past will be funded in the future."

"This plan takes into account a modest program growth averaging four to five percent in these next four years. This plan keeps cumulative spending by the state at less than the growth in personal income since fiscal 1977," Thompson said.

The underlying assumptions in the four-year plan include:

1. Real GNP (gross national product) growth of 3.5 percent, inflation at 5 percent, a slow decline in unemployment, and a moderate revenue growth of about five percent for fiscal years 1985-87.

2. Phase-in to 100 percent the state's funding level for employee retirement by fiscal 1986.

3. Selective restoration of budget cuts and additional funding in education and human services.

4. Restoration of end-of-year balances to the levels needed for Illinois. (Continued on Page 5)

Firemen's pension budget defended

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler calls pending legal action between the city and its firefighters' pension board a quarrel over definitions rather than an actual fund shortfall.

Firefighter Kenneth A. Druhe, secretary of the Firemen's Pension Fund, however, views the dispute as a more substantive and urgent issue.

The pension board of trustees, along with James M. Strack, president of Firefighters Union Local 253, filed suit in the Madison County Circuit Court on March 7, asking that the city be forced to fund pension reserves based on figures determined by the Illinois Department of Insurance.

According to Druhe, the pension board became alarmed after the City Council voted a $100,000 tax levy cut last fall for the pensions. A similar reduction was made in the police pension levy.

State law mandates that pension revenues come directly from tax levies. The city would be liable if its retirement funds prove inadequate.

The 1982-83 budget included a $300,000 contribution to the firefighters' pension fund, based on the previous year's tax levy.

As the council's finance committee begins to draw up this year's budget, however, it will only be able to draw on the $200,000 tax levy passed in 1982 and due to be collected this summer, pension trustees fear.

Mayor Schuler said Friday the city has never, as long as he can remember, funded the pension reserves according to state suggested figures, and the practice has caused no problems. The mayor said there has always been enough reserve in the firemen's pension account to cover expenses.

"I just want to correct any false impressions that may be created by the lawsuit—that the people of Granite City are not funding pensions properly," Schuler said.

He cited the city's 1982 audit report, which shows a $3.1 million pension fund balance. He pointed out that while pension income, including taxes, interest and other contributions, totaled

Trouble besets GC schools

'Red ink' may grow in 1984

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Despite operating six fewer schools and honorably dismissing more than 200 employees, the Granite City district may fall farther behind financially in the July 1983-June 1984 year, perhaps by an additional several hundred thousand dollars.

This assumes no change in existing costs other than changes that are related to manning 12 schools instead of 18.

Of course, the assumption of no basic cost changes itself is subject to change, not only in tomorrow's adoption of February's tentative budget, but also by possible budgetary revisions later in 1983.

The new budget—prepared six months early to permit borrowing against a second future year's taxes this spring—projects that 1983-84 borrowing through first-year tax anticipation warrants (Continued on Page 5)

Assembly tax delay forecast

Will Illinois schools get adequate funding this year? An answer eventually will be known, but it may be delayed until autumn.

House Speaker Mike Madigan is expected to hammer through some kind of revenue enhancement—tax increase, that is. He is a Democrat, and the Republican governor may try to sweeten the charge by promising desired fund allocations to the Chicago area.

Democrats also control the Illinois Senate, but sufficient support has not yet developed there to boost taxes and bolster the worse-than-austere tentative 1983-84 state budget.

Sen. Terry L. Bruce, Olney Democrat, said last week that, with 30 affirmative votes needed, "I count substantially less than 20 noses" of senators willing to respond to Gov. James R. Thompson's revenue recommendations. (Continued on Page 5)

Possible race for prosecutor job developing

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Madison County Board Member Charles Burns, D-Edwardsville, says he will reintroduce a motion next month to appoint a special prosecutor to investigate allegations against State Attorney Don Weber, a Republican. The latter says Burns wants to run against him next year.

The Belleville attorney who sent letters to board members outlining the allegations reports he is willing to testify under oath. Also receiving letters from him about Weber were Chief Circuit Judge A.A. Matosian and a state disciplinary commission.

The letters were written by Amiel Cueto after he talked to Marvin Darling, former administrator in Weber's office and a close friend of the state's attorney for many years. The friendship cooled when Darling's pay was cut.

Soon after the allegations were forwarded to Illinois Attorney General Neil Hartigan's office, Burns decided to

Madison theft and vandalism crackdown

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Madison School Board on Thursday night unanimously approved a theft policy—with minor rewording—that was introduced at its last meeting. The board also received a vandalism policy for consideration.

Revisions in the theft policy include changing automatic 10-day suspension to "up to a 10-day suspension." Returning stolen items is still a mandatory part of the rules, but the revised policy also calls for return or replacement "by items of equal value."

A hearing before the board is called for in the policy. Those involved in thefts will not be allowed to participate in extracurricular activities until one year, to the date, after the board hearing.

The words "if found guilty of this charge" were stricken from that section of the policy after Board Member

Paul Bargiel said he did not believe the board could act in a judicial capacity to determine guilt.

Only the courts, he said, can legally determine guilt or innocence.

The possibility of prosecution, however, remains a part of the policy. Any police agency conducting an investigation and finding that a student or students from School District 12 have been involved in theft will handle the

Settlement of Brandon Heights issue near?

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record
Members of the Madison County Sanitary Sewer Committee for Special Service Area One appeared optimistic after last week's county board meeting that settlement of the Brandon Heights dispute could be near.

Committee Chairman Morris Miles and member Nick Hamilos said that word from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) concerning contract bids to move the sewer line from Brandon Heights to an area south of Old Alton Road should soon arrive.

The committee has recommended the approval of the lowest bid from O. T. Dunlap in Edwardsville. A letter outlining specifications for the project sent to the IEPA from Charles Juneau, special service area engineer, was read at the county board meeting.

Miles said that IEPA officials have said they will approve the bid, but, so far, have not sent their approval in writing.

At its meeting Wednesday, March 23, the committee is expected to set a date to meet with Brandon Heights residents for the final time before a decision is made.

The committee could either decide to settle with the residents or to proceed with moving the sewer line. Neither of the two options seems particularly appealing to Miles, who has indicated in the past that he wishes to avoid any hassle with the residents.

"I was, and still am, opposed to giving them (the residents) any money," he told the Press-Record.

However, moving the sewer lines would cost $56,625 if the contract is awarded to O. T. Dunlap. Settling with the residents would cost about $70,000.

Fredman's Furniture phasing business; June closing here

Fredman's Furniture, successor to Feder Huber Furniture at Niedringhaus and Delmar avenues, is in the process of liquidating its local operations. The store building has been in use here since 1914 and once was known as the Dennis Furniture store.

Manager Ronald N. Zukerman said Friday that a company officer has cited a "lack of business" and the general economic situation as the main reasons for the pending closing.

Zukerman said the firm's other area stores located in Edwardsville, Belleville and Centralia are not suffering from the same types of problems. He commented that the city's high unemployment rate seems to be causing a particularly difficult business climate.

Local customers will be referred to Fredman's Edwardsville store at 119 N. Main St. "We feel we can consolidate to the other sites and still be able to serve our customers here," he commented.

Zukerman said the Granite City store probably will continue in operation here until June. The store is in the midst of a preferred customers closing sale and will offering closing sales to the general public later this week.

During the going-out-of-business sale, Zukerman said, the store will be offering its regular line of furniture; it will not bring in lower quality furniture for the sale.

The furniture store was purchased by Fredman's Furniture eight years ago but retained the name of Feder Huber Furniture until last year, he said. The store is staffed by seven employees.

Zukerman will become area advertising manager for Fredman's and will be based in Edwardsville after the store closes here.

BONNIE GOLDENBERG has joined the sales staff of Reese's World Store, Inc., as a full-time sales associate. Mrs. Goldenberg taught music in the Urbana schools while her husband, Mark, finished his law degree. They moved to St. Louis and she taught in the Missouri schools before opening the Boutique II. They moved to Granite City in 1979. She received her real estate license last summer and has completed Reese's World's training program at the regional headquarters in St. Louis. ### Charge Madison man with DUI Called to the scene of a motor accident at 20th Street and Grand Avenue at 11:10 p.m. Sunday, an officer found a vehicle occupied by John W. Patterson, 19, of 204 Sixth St., Madison, had crashed into a utility pole at the intersection.

The man's speech was mumbled, an odor of alcohol was present and he staggered upon exiting the vehicle, the officer alleged. Despite having injuries to an eye and his mouth, Patterson declined medical attention.

At police headquarters, Patterson agreed to take a breathalyzer test, administered by an Illinois State Police trooper, and was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

After the test, the motorist requested medical attention and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment and then returned to jail.

Patterson was driving west on 20th Street when a vehicle pulled out from Grand Avenue, causing him to apply the brakes and skid. His auto veered to the right and hit the pole, he told police.

you can BANK on it!

DREW KARANDJEFF
President

Q. Since I utilize my bank for my credit needs, I haven't fallen into any of the infamous "credit traps" which one often hears about. I wonder if you could explain a few of these.

A. There are many "credit traps" used by unscrupulous lenders of which to be aware. The contract with an "add-on clause" is one. In this case, the seller keeps title to an entire list of items until full payment has been completed. A houseful of furniture, for example. One delinquent payment could permit the seller to repossess everything, even though you're down to a few dollars of the pay-off. The balloon contract is also something to avoid. It provides for a final payment which is considerably larger than any of the previous installments. If you aren't aware of it, or aren't prepared to meet that final, large payment, your purchase could, again, be repossessed, or you may be compelled to refinance at wholly unreasonable terms. It does pay, in credit arrangements, to deal with people you know, and, above all, to read your contract carefully.

Senior Citizens' Fair is on SIUE campus

Numerous area senior citizens were attending today's Senior Fair at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

On tap for the seniors this year was a wide variety of exhibits, displays, entertainment, and informational booths, according to Ann Carey, acting director of the Gerontology Program and professor of speech pathology and audiology at the University.

Activities are scheduled in the University Center from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. In other years, there have been as many as 2,000 older Americans attending the event, and this year's attendance is expected to be about the same.

SIUE President Earl Lazerson welcomed the seniors to the university at a general assembly at 10 a.m. in Meridian Ballroom.

Following the assembly, entertainment and presentations by area senior citizens groups continued in Goshen Lounge until 3 p.m. These activities included the performance of kitchen bands, chorus groups and dance troupes.

Exhibits of arts and crafts were set up at different points inside the center, where the seniors could display their own wares or enjoy the work of others.

Information tables dealing with social services available to the elderly opened throughout the day on the first floor of the building. Hearing tests were provided by the SIUE Speech and Hearing Center, conducted on a walk-up basis. Diabetes screening was provided by University Health Services staff and nursing students. Blood pressure readings also were taken by nursing students. An oral health screening will be conducted by members of the School of Dental Medicine faculty.

Afternoon activities included dancing in Meridian Ballroom from 1 until 3 p.m. Music was provided by the Frank Cherry Orchestra.

All the day's activities, with the exception of lunch, was free.

GC kindergarten registration begins April 5 at local schools

In announcing registration dates for next year's kindergarten classes, District Nine Superintendent of Schools, R. J. Davis urged the cooperation of all parents of children who will start kindergarten in August.

Registration will take place in your local neighborhood school this spring. Parents of children in the school district to anticipate more accurately both the space and personnel needed. Your records will be sent to the appropriate elementary school after redistricting, Davis explained. Any child who will be 5 years-of-age on or before Dec. 31, 1983, is eligible to enroll in kindergarten. Kindergarten classes are half-day sessions and are held at each local elementary school.

A birth certificate and immunization record should be presented at the time of registration. (Hospital records not accepted.) These must be presented before actual attendance can begin in the fall.

Illinois law states that no child may enter school for the first time without the following immunizations: whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, rubella (measles) and rubella (3-day measles). Exceptions are made only for religious or medical reasons.

Physical and dental examinations also are required before attendance in Kindergarten may begin. These forms are distributed to parents at the time of registration so that appointments for the exams can be arranged during the summer.

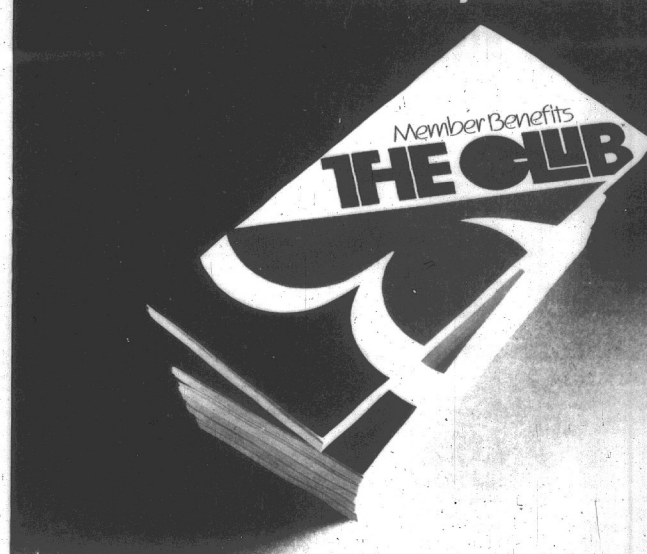

School nurses will be available at the time of registration to explain health regulations to parents and to review the immunization records.

Registration days at the various elementary schools are: Tuesday, April 5, Frohardt, Maryville and Wilson; Wednesday, April 6, Lake, Parkview and Webster; Thursday, April 7, Johnson, Logan, Mitchell and Niedringhaus; and Friday, April 8, Emerson, Marshall and Nameoki.

Registration will be from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 2:30 p.m. on the designated days. Children being registered should accompany their parents. Any questions concerning the registration can be answered by the principal of the neighborhood elementary school or by Vasil Efremov, director of pupil personnel services at the board of education office (676-6600).

Computers, Solomon and politics

The computer age is upon us. Microcomputers abound in Quad-City schools and are to be featured at the new Granite City College. Tiny computers help operate our cameras and give us instant mathematical answers.

But, awesome as these achievements are, can they take politics out of our state governmental redistricting? We remain unconvinced.

Two representatives—whose party is noteworthy for its near-absence in the Illinois legislature this year after a disastrous 1982 reapportionment—think a computer approach could lead to more Solomon-like decisions in 1992.

Rep. John Birkinbine says that districts usually are drawn by incumbent legislators who have "personal interests" to consider and party goals to advance. Because of that, too many districts are drawn in contorted shapes. And too many municipalities, townships and counties are divided into multiple districts.

Rep. Judy Koehler comments, "When the population of an area increases or decreases, governmental representation should reflect that population shift. Reapportionment should not protect incumbents; it should serve the needs and priorities of all citizens. Partisan political goals should have no place whatever in the redistricting procedures of a democracy."

Rep. Koehler, who is trying to keep our democracy from becoming a Democracy, notes that the small village of Wilmette was divided between two Congressional and three state legislative districts.

Her own district received national attention when she pointed out that it had been made 125 miles long and only one township wide. It snaked through seven counties, 60 townships, four Congressional districts and three telephone area codes.

Calling it "the ultimate example of gerrymandering," she challenged the map. The Illinois Supreme Court agreed with her and ordered it changed. To avoid such costly and time-consuming legal battles in the future, she would substitute computer logic, taking into consideration census information, existing city, town and county boundaries and similar data. The Illinois House speaker, Senate president and governor would select a private firm to do the programming and printouts.

They hope to see such a Constitutional amendment on the Illinois ballot in November. But even if adopted, we are not sure it would keep political alliances out of the picture.

Does anyone know of one or two good computer firms whose owners always vote right? We bet they could be found if someone tried hard to locate them.

Broader definition of recreation

Horizons are broadened for those who take advantage of the Granite City Park District's out-of-town excursions.

Such activities may not be directly associated with the district's recreational responsibilities, but they certainly are well received and they add a lot to the lives of many people.

Weekend outings currently scheduled have as their destinations the Lexington, Ky., thoroughbred racehorse region May 20-22, the Passion Play in Eureka Springs, Ark., June 24-26, an annual trip to the Grand Ole Opry and Opryland at Nashville, Tenn., July 22-24, the colonies at Amana and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Aug. 19-21, and the Silver Dollar City crafts festival during the fall.

Meanwhile, bus service and game tickets for senior citizens are being arranged by the Park District. The destination is the only stadium in the world (at least in 1983) in which a defending champion professional baseball team will be trying to earn a repeat title. The Cardinals will be seen in action by the local group May 18, June 15 and July 27.

Fun-filled and informative adventures await many local individuals and families this year, here and elsewhere, thanks to the Granite City Park District. And the bus doors are about to open.

Way to speed driving revocation

Alton Telegraph—How long will it take Illinois to climb aboard the latest movement to discourage drunken driving?

It already has adopted in the past year or so new laws to toughen up the policing of such offenses. Now, however, it faces a recommendation of the president's Commission on Drunken Driving to combat any remnants of court slowness in de-licensing drunks caught behind the wheel.

Courts traditionally have been slow to take licenses away. The average driver believes he can probably beat the charge by long delays and jury trials.

One form of relief from this defect is speedy administrative revocation of licenses without delays in the court system. Iowa is among states that have passed laws providing for fast disposition of drunk driving charges by the administrative method. Others are Minnesota, West Virginia, Delaware and Oklahoma. Missouri is considering such a measure.

Iowa's law became effective July 1 and 1982-83 revocations have reached 17,818, compared with 11,170 in all of the previous year. Some of the increase was due to greater police efforts but much was the result of the new law.

The stepped-up police efforts were encouraged by realization among police that they were accomplishing something through their arrests. Under the Iowa law, if a motorist registers 0.10 of one percent blood alcohol or more, the arresting officer takes the driver's license and gives him a temporary license to drive for 30 days.

The driver then has 30 days to ask for an administrative hearing to show the arrest was invalid for some reason. One reason could be that the testing device was not working properly. But if the arrest cannot be proven invalid, the license is revoked. On a first offense, it is revoked for 120 days; for a second offense, 240 days; and a third offense, one year.

If the driver appeals the administrative decision to a court, the court is limited to overturning the administrator's decision only if the driver can prove the arrest technically invalid. Illinois legislators might give some thought to modifications invoking some of the powers of the Iowa law.

It's such a simple thing to do

On the subject of safer roads, a tiny flick of a finger by most drivers can help avoid accidents and make driving easier and less annoying for other motorists.

Nothing is easier than flipping a turn signal lever, but far too many Quad-City area motorists apparently feel it unnecessary.

We have witnessed several accident and many more near accidents recently caused by persons failing to use their turn signals to notify others of their intentions.

There is nothing more frustrating than sitting at a stop sign, waiting to turn onto a major street and then having the oncoming vehicle you have been waiting on suddenly turn beside you, without the courtesy of using a turn signal to inform you he was going to turn and you could have safely proceeded.

It is a violation of the law and one which police should not only observe, but should enforce. Turn signals could avoid a lot of accidents and frustrations.

People in Granite City were asked Friday afternoon about the establishment of a two-year college at the Granite City High School North campus by Belleville Area College. Their reactions follow:

Harold Evans, Granite City

"That's what they need—more education, not less. I've got 20 grandchildren and I don't want them to grow up without a good education. They need it, instead of destroying a school. Instead of going backwards, they (the Granite City School Board) need to look ahead."

Rita Overbey, Granite City

"I think it's great because I'm going to BAC now. I think that in this area, with high unemployment, many people want to go back to college to retrain for other job opportunities. Going to a four-year college like SIU (Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville) turns them off, but a two-year college like BAC is more appealing. It costs a lot less, too."

Dave Franz, Godfrey

"I think that it's an excellent idea. I believe it will enhance the educational opportunities of people in Granite City because of its proximity. I'd like to see classes beyond the second year implemented at the new college."

Pam Hall, Granite City

"I think they should. They need to do something with it (the North High campus). More people might further their education, since it's so close."

Wants fair treatment of county prosecutor

To the Editor:

A Globe Democrat reporter's news stories about the alleged illegality of Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber's campaign report were based almost completely on the sole evidence admitted by Collinsville lawyer Ben Urban, who was recently convicted by a Weber staff member of stealing about $150,000 in truck over-weight fines.

After the forgery conviction, Urban claimed that he had contributed about $30,000 to Weber's campaign.

When he reduced this allegation to $10,000 to $12,000, the reporter's ears stood up and his eyes sparkled. His fervor continued to rise even as, in the same article, Urban's claim shrunk further to several thousand dollars, and eventually to $495.

The reporter easily swallowed Urban's three lying figures and hoped that at last he had told the truth. His hopes to find a whale of wrongdoing by the state's attorney rose as he discovered that Weber's campaign report showed no such Urban entry.

At once, he jingled his coins in a toll phone to the State Elections Board at Springfield, which promptly swarmed in a trio of investigators.

Their discovery to date discloses that Urban's $495 check was not personal but to cover ten fund-raising dinner tickets he had sold; after two years, Weber still owes his party. Weber reported the ticket money not from an individual but in a total dinner ticket sales sum.

Later state returns also now indicate that Urban had actually contributed only $48 directly to Weber—a reduction of $11,952 from one allegation.

Yet, the reporter is still hopeful that he can have Weber fully investigated for ten political plates of chicken, mashed potatoes and creamed peas.

He has based his news almost solely on the allegations of a convicted forger and on no basic fact or facts.

This is not news but abuse. This is not fair reporting but clever distorting.

It is alleged guilt based on shifting figures and innuendo.

Lawyers and doctors have a board of ethics which can investigate malpractice. The reporting cited proves that the powerful profession of journalism demands a similar board of review with power to remove some from their work.

Area newspapers have printed other allegations against Weber by personal and political enemies of the most dedicated, hard driving, and successful state's attorney our county has ever had.

There were the charges leveled against him by a disgruntled former friend and employee whose salary he cut from $25,000 to $17,000 because of decreased production.

The former employee rushed to Belleville to pour his allegations of wrongdoing by the state's attorney into the eager ears of a lawyer, a courtroom enemy of Weber's and an attorney for the east side levee board whose chairman Weber has investigated.

The area press also gleefully reported pressing Judge Johnson's criticism of the state's attorney's office. Weber had personally convicted the brutal murderer of a Granite City pharmacist.

maist, for sentencing to the electric chair.

Yet, no note was made when Johnson, new on the criminal bench, was promptly returned to civil cases.

Thus, the frequent headlines charging against Weber, who directs his office not from the back but from up front with the troops, often personally prosecuting the harder cases.

He has won 29 out of his last 32 trials. He has convicted murderers, procurers, open-meeting violators, drunken drivers, a child molester, and has used dogs to sniff for dope in high school lockers.

He asks not for leniency from the press but just ordinary decency—and not charged with allegations brewed up by his personal and political enemies.

Why not return him to the front line for a safer Madison County? And cite his warning, "Obey the law or pay the price"—the highest one we can secure from judge and jury."

College should stress high-quality teaching

To the Editor:

The transition from Granite City North to Granite City College has moved at such a rapid pace that residents of Granite City have had little opportunity for an open forum to debate whether we are getting our money's worth in the exchange.

The proposed BAC (Belleville Area College) program has the potential of bringing jobs to the city at an opportune time—when so many Granite City teachers will be losing their jobs at the end of the school year.

The question is, will BAC hire those Granite City teachers who are qualified to teach at the college level?

Hiring at home would keep tax dollars in Granite City where they were originally earned.

Going one step further, will these teachers be offered full-time positions with compensation at the same level as their counterparts on the Belleville campus?

Or, will courses be parcelled out on a part-time basis with substandard pay, inadequate to support a modest family? These are questions which must be asked.

More important, however, is the quality of the proposed program to be offered at Granite City College. Will Granite City residents get the same quality of instruction as that provided on the main campus in Belleville? Will BAC insist that instructors at GCC have the same academic credentials as instructors on the main campus? The Granite City program can only be as credible as the quality of its teachers.

Since Quad-Cityans contribute $400,000 in taxes annually to the BAC district, we must not allow a second-rate program to slip into the community unmonitored during a time of crisis. We deserve the best.

munity Unit School District Nine, which no longer can balance its yearly budget, but which can look back on many rewarding experiences.

Countless graduates' intellectual and social development were fostered in a highly effective way by local teachers and programs.

"Straight A" student Orsey "hit the books hard" not only here but at Northwestern University, Evanston, where he graduated with distinction in 1961.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew (Sylvia) Orsey of Granite City. His brother, Dennis J. Orsey, an attorney with an Alton law firm, also resides in Granite City.

Robert Orsey has been associated with International Business Machines (IBM) for nearly 22 years and at present has the title of business systems planning consultant.

Orsey joined IBM in 1961 as a systems engineer and then became manager of the IBM Data Center in Chicago. He received the company's "outstanding manager of the year" award.

His next promotion was to the position of planning administrator, with offices in White Plains, N.Y., the company's home office.

For his present consulting duties in IBM's data processing division, he continues to have offices in White Plains.

His work includes presenting data processing talks at many locations across the nation and overseas.

Authorities say he has helped numerous public and private organizations—including government agencies, education institutions, utilities, manufacturers and the pharmaceutical firms—to implement their own business systems planning (BSP) structures.

He resides in Stamford, Conn., with his wife, Betty, and their sons, Scott, 10, and Christopher, eight years old.

He is the author of such published commentaries as "The pharmaceutical firm's information processing" and "Methodologies of Determining Information."

Information by Orsey that drew wide attention was included last year in the Computer Decisions publication.

His title was "Management of Information" and it outlined "the case for BSP: a methodology to create comprehensive information systems planning that analyzes information needs from the top down, to come up with a plan for building systems from the bottom up."

Because data processing is such a competitive arena, even for a giant company like IBM, cost is an overriding factor.

As Orsey explains it, "What is the total cost of the information you need to run an organization? Chances are you think it's the amount of money your organization budgets for data processing—on average, somewhere between 9.5 and 15 percent of company gross revenues for most profit-making organizations.

"Is that really the cost of information? Take a closer look. Walk around your offices. What about all those drawer steel-grate file cabinets in person?

"That two-shift clerical staff in accounting? Those rattling telephones? 'The knowledge in the production manager's head? They are all representative of data or information."

"Information and data permeate your entire organization in one form or another—from raw numbers and mechanized helps, detailed correspondence and reports."

Orsey quotes Robert Ellis Smith, author of "Privacy: How to Protect What Left of It," as saying that "our planet has become more crowded and complex. Information is the new fund that makes it go."

"More than half of all labor income in the U.S. is now earned by workers involved not in agriculture, manufacturing or services, but in the production, processing and distribution of information."

Orsey concludes that "the need is there. Information is basic. Now we must manage and control it."

Aided by his schooling in Granite City, he is now one of the leaders in what may become the most important of all fields of endeavor, data management.

Madison theft

Superintendent John Palfrey explained the changes by saying that it was not possible to establish "one strict policy to deal with all thefts in the same manner."

Because of the different types of items, and their values, that could be involved in theft it would be impractical to assume an automatic suspension for all infractions, he said.

He used the stealing of pencils in the elementary schools as an example and said the board should not expect a student for 10 days for taking such a small item as a pencil.

"The 'may' (in the 10-day suspension item) gives the principal the option to decide if the incident should be brought to the board," Palfrey said.

The policy on vandalism, which probably will be acted on at the board's next meeting, calls for "up to 10 days suspension and (a) board hearing for possible expulsion and (b) says offenders must 'pay the cost of replacement or repairing property vandalized.'"

The theft policy was written by Sam Dyrus, school board president, following the theft of items owned by Carlinville High School by Madison students. Carlinville and Madison were sharing a locker over at Carlinville High School when the incident occurred Feb. 22.

The Jersey County sheriff's department notified Madison police after the item was noted as missing.

Madison Sgt. Charles Bridick went to the home of one of the youths involved and was then taken to the homes of others. All of the stolen items were recovered.

The board also received a copy of a letter from Bill Church, athletic director at the Jersey community school, to Daniel Kostenick, Madison High School principal.

Church commends Kostenick: "Your ability to take a very unfortunate situation and make it a positive learning experience shows great credit for yourself, your coaching staff and the parents involved in returning the missing items."

The letter further thanks Kostenick, the coaching staff and "everyone involved for help 'in mending our relationship with Carlinville High School.'"

Palfrey again mentioned the efforts of Bridick: "Charlie Bridick did a real fine job," he said.

Possible motive

present a motion to the County Board. But he withdrew the proposal at the February meeting, saying he needed more time and more information.

On March 4, Weber issued a detailed response to each of the allegations in the Cuto letter.

In a cover letter to Weber's response, Assistant State's Attorney David "Zeke" Smith says he "feels confident that the attorney general's office will not make any further investigation of this matter."

Smith says he does not believe Hartigan would want to become involved in litigation between two attorneys. Had the attorney general chosen to investigate, the state's attorney's office would have been contacted by now, Smith asserts. Cuto's letter is dated Jan. 14.

"The main reason (for saying this) is I know Weber's clear," Smith says. Cuto contends that both he and Darling will stand by the allegations, although Cuto admits he has no direct knowledge of the matter.

He alleges that Weber prosecuted a man even though he knew the man was innocent. He also asserts that an attorney who was not even a lawyer paid full-time wages even though she seldom showed up for work.

"Most people in the courthouse would be in bed with him," Cuto contends. He says he has talked to one current employee and two former employees who, to his satisfaction, confirm the allegations.

Cuto will not say to whom he spoke. Burns also declined to say which individuals he has talked to, but indicates he has interviewed employees since the February board meeting.

The possible motive for Burns to try to pursue an investigation, Weber says, includes the board member's conviction that he might run for the office of state's attorney.

Condemning Burns' actions, Weber concludes that the office is "none of his business until he beats me in an election." The prosecutor's four-year term ends in late 1984.

Firemen's pension

$791,000, actual expenses for the year were $229,576.

The same expense figures, though, were noted by Bruke as an example of how the yearly deficit had been falling behind the actual annual costs borne from the pension fund.

Even the 1981 tax levy of $300,000 fell short of the state's suggested $375,000 contribution, according to Bruke and the court complaint.

The board of trustees did vote to accept the $300,000 levy, but to want to sue the city," Bruke explained.

He said the board felt it was compelled to sue when the city decided to set the pension fund levy even lower.

The levy reduction combined with other cuts helped the city to increase only slightly its total 1982 tax levy.

The pension board was never consulted about the 1982 pension levy cut and protested it at a subsequent finance committee meeting, he related.

Clifford A. Alder, Walter Milton, finance committee chairman, said the $100,000 cut was a temporary measure to prevent higher property taxes.

Milton said real estate taxes would have had to be increased by 64 percent if all suggested 1982-83 appropriations had been approved.

Commenting on the state's half-million pension budget recommendation, the mayor said, "I think it's supposed to be a guide, probably for the communities that don't fund pension funds properly."

Mayor Schuler said no other city pension reserve is funded as well as the firemen's.

He pointed to the city's current financial problem as the reason for the funding drop, and said the municipality will need at least another year or two before it can regain its financial footing.

quidity and protection against economic uncertainty.

"Even though our one-time obligations will be repaid during fiscal 1984, we still will have obligations that will grow in the areas of retirement, interest on unemployment borrowing, and local government revenue sharing."

"When that fact is combined with a modest growth in revenue, the amount left for program growth in no way constitutes a 'windfall,' as some have claimed," the governor concluded.

REPORTS BURGLARY

Marjory Beck, 1327 Rock Road, reported to Madison County sheriff's deputies Thursday that 7:35 p.m. that $1,500 worth of items were stolen from her home, including two telephones, three heaters, kitchen appliances and jewelry.

Missing were a collection of liberty-type coins and a Belgian 12-gauge skeet gun. Entry was gained by breaking a window and the cutting a screen.

The entire residence of William R. Curtis, 1701 Sixth Street, Madison, was ransacked by burglars, who also started a small fire in a bedroom, it was reported at 2:15 a.m. Sunday.

tants, amounting to $6,861,554, will be topped by first-year borrowing of $7,401,330 in the upcoming year.

The figures do not include second-year borrowing, which has been projected at $1,700,000 during this spring and summer.

Enactment of the 1983-84 budget will take place during a 7 p.m. Board of Education meeting tomorrow.

The session will begin with two public hearings, on honorable teacher dismissals and on the new tax levy. Real estate taxation is estimated at $9,372,046, which would be an increase of 8.8 percent over the 1982 levy.

Before the evening is over, the board also may have formally authorized its initial second-year tax warrants.

This year's loans are listed as $6,130,000 in education fund tax warrants, $578,000 in building fund tax warrants and $153,554 to be loaned from the working cash fund to the education fund.

In 1983-84, the district expects to obtain warrants of $6,451,763 for the education fund and $706,013 for the building fund as well as $156,654 for working cash.

Total expenditures are projected to be $21,125,463, including $29,882,962 for education, $2,189,200 for building costs, $1,325,422 for transportation, $576,375 for municipal retirement and $156,654 for working cash.

The 1982-83 budget of $29,924,019 consisted of $25,930,424 for education, $1,975,200 for building, $1,306,400 for transportation and $711,925 for municipal retirement.

Budget actions tomorrow night also are scheduled to include provision for 1983-84 costs of the Quad-City special education region. The tentative allocation is $576,923.

Because of accumulated operating debt and a sharp revenue imbalance between revenue and costs, the Granite City district embarked on a program to reduce the number of schools, trim the size of the staff, and cut other expenses wherever feasible, consistent with maintaining a high caliber of instructional quality.

The potential cuts to end the monetary imbalance and begin reducing the debt were so enormous that the Board of Education—even with the closing of six schools in June 1983—parents—did not reduce the budget enough to achieve a turn-around.

Part of the 1983-84 spending will be expenditures for such items as unemployment compensation payments to those dismissed or laid off.

The district's goal now is believed to be to achieve a significant turn-around in the following year, 1984-85.

But the financial estimates that have been made so far indicate that the debt mountain to be climbed is growing, not shrinking. It may be a little taller next year than this year.

Brakes fail, car hits man

Called to the scene of an accident on Missouri Avenue at West 24th Street at 9:05 p.m. Saturday, officers found Glen W. Smith, 30, of Rural Route Two, Box 1175, stranded on the steps of a dwelling.

The man had blood on his face and clothing and officers detected a strong odor of alcohol about him. He allegedly had been driving a van north in the 2300 block of Missouri Avenue and struck the rear of a parked auto belonging to John S. Bell, 1710 Cleveland Blvd.

Emergency medical technicians administered first aid to the man and he was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was identified as Glen W. Smith.

At the medical center, Smith agreed to take a blood alcohol test and was charged with driving under the influence (DUI) of alcohol and failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident. He was admitted for further medical treatment.

Authorities said he walked out of the medical center at 8:30 last night and was being sought.

Sasyk supports vegetable garden idea

By DONNA KIMBRO of the Press-Record

Continued interest and concern for empty lot vegetable gardens in the city of Madison has prompted Mayor Mike Sasyk to distribute information papers to the city council on the identical project undertaken in Cleveland, Ohio. He noted the successful venture there netted $500,000 worth of vegetables.

According to the article, the mayor and city hall officials in Cleveland, young children and families in low-income areas pooled their knowledge, land and tools and grew $500,000 worth of vegetables to feed people who were in need because of the economic recession in 1982.

Cleveland Mayor George V. Voinovich, with the backing of that city council, provided $45,000 in Community Development Block Grant Funds to get project going. This enabled the city to till the sites, provide fertilizer, seeds and seedlings, lend tools and allow gardeners to use water from fire hydrants.

Mayor Sasyk is of the opinion the same program can be utilized in Madison to provide food for the needy and beautify vacant lots which otherwise would grow up with unsightly weeds and debris.

In other business, the mayor said he will wait until after the election to appoint the remaining members of a council committee to study plans for cable television in Madison. At a previous meeting, the mayor said he appointed 12 persons and hopes to name six additional people to represent all facets of the community and make a recommendation to the council.

Because of statements of political candidates who apparently are opposed to the cable committee, the mayor said he feels it would be better timed after the election and those appointed would not have a conflict in working on the proposed project.

Council members approved bills totaling $50,504 for the month.

Vasil Gravelle submitted a report that two of many cars and boats parked behind a building on Fourth Street have been removed and he is in the process of having them taken away.

Charles Rockett requested help from the street department in collecting tree limbs and other debris in Ward Four as a clean-up drive.

Representatives of groups interested in the purchase of land near Chain of Rocks Bridge and the bridge itself, now owned by the city of Madison, cancelled meeting last week with council members, according to William Gushleff.

Mayor Sasyk said two other projects have contacted his office requesting additional information concerning the bridge and joining real estate and, when they are ready to negotiate, another meeting will be arranged.

After hearing a program for insurance on city employees last month, the finance committee met to discuss the cost and coverage and have now decided to advertise for new bids in an effort to fit the needs of those involved, Alderman Thomas Gordan explained.

Approval was granted by the aldermen to Thomeczek Oil Co. of Alton to provide gasoline for city vehicles and to install two new commercial pumps, not to exceed $400 each, at a McCambridge Avenue location.

A resolution to demolish a one-story structure located at 1510 Fourth St., owned by the city, was approved by the aldermen during the session.

A request from Dorothy Hinson of the Beta Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, and Madison County Eight and Forty to sponsor a bike-a-thon from 1 to 4 p.m. on April 30 was granted. All proceeds will be donated to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, Miss Hinson noted.

Plans are in progress to renovate the Madison Memorial Center and the West Madison Recreation Center, Mayor Sasyk told the council. "We have $35,000 for the project and will begin after all surveys of both facilities are made and it is determined the cost of improving the property," he added.

Police Chief Donald Brick submitted his report for the month of February which indicated a 10 percent increase in crime for the month this year, as compared to the month of February, 1982. There were two residential burglaries, one at a business location, one at a school, one at an apartment, two of automobiles and one from a storage shed. Total fines collected during the month amounted to $1,944.

School fund outlook still a 'disaster'

To enable local school officials to "assess the drastic effect" of Gov. James R. Thompson's proposed budget on schools, the Illinois State Board of Education has proposed allocations to the governor's budget level for education.

The allocation process was made in response to the governor's request and is not an adoption of Gov. Thompson's budget for schools.

The board continues to support its proposed budget, which calls for $1,929 billion — a $100.3 million increase — for education programs and an additional $100 million for the state's share of the Illinois State Board of Education's proposed budget.

The governor's budget for schools is $164 million below the 1982-83 levels for education and about $243 million less state support than 1981-82.

State Superintendent of Education Donald Gill describes the governor's budget level for elementary and secondary education as "disastrous."

"The importance of funding state revenues to fund education is demonstrated by the unrealistic and unacceptable reduction in state support for schools," Gill said. The board supports in principle the governor's tax increase proposals.

The allocation of the governor's proposed spending level for general state aid (GSA) would reduce the 1982-83 level of $1,381 billion by $105.6 million. Categorical programs reimbursed through statutory formulas would be reduced by 23 percent of the 1982-83 levels, which would call for an appropriation of $271 million. The figure represents a loss of $81.3 million in state funds and a 63.5 percent proration for most of the statutory categorical programs.

For non-statutory categorical programs, the recommended allocation of $52.5 million would result in a loss of $22.2 million for 1982-83. The proposed allocation is a 30 percent loss in state funds.

In response to Gov. Thompson's allocation request, the board recommended a $47.1 million increase in state funds for the teachers' retirement systems.

"The governor's proposed budget would mean without question that children would suffer from a reduction in both quality and quantity of the education programs and services offered by local schools," Dr. Gill commented.

He said the board's proposed education budget for 1983-84 is a realistic one, which calls for "a modest increase of $100.3 million in state funds for school programs and services."

Under the board's proposed budget, GSA would be increased by $23.8 million (3.9 percent) over current year appropriations.

Statutory categorical programs would receive a $34.7 million increase, and non-statutory categorical programs would receive a $6.2 million increase over 1982-83 appropriations.

Brownie circus day Saturday

The River Bluffs Girl Scout Council will sponsor a major event for 1,600 Brownies (6, 7 and 8 years old) at SIUE in the University Center on Saturday, March 26.

There will be two sessions, each with 800 girls. One group will meet from 9 a.m. to noon and the other from 1 to 4 p.m.

Check lists for the "Brownie Circus Day," this indoor three-ring circus will provide a myriad of activities. A "creature feature" will include a snake, alligator, iguana and possibly a turtle and talking parrot.

There will be a hug booth, where girls can get hugs from ET, the Cookie Monster and Mickey and Minnie Mouse. Shriners will make balloon characters for the participants and run them through a clown machine, where they will be painted like a clown.

A Senior Citizens Kitchen Band will perform in the morning and a ventriloquist will perform in the afternoon. The Student Mundy Theater Group will provide a mime and a storyteller.

There will be continuous songs, games and folk dancing throughout the day.

During March, the Girl Scouts are celebrating their 71st anniversary.

Poison Prevention Week

The Madison-St. Clair Counties Professional Pharmacists Association is again participating in National Poison Prevention Week, March 20 to 26.

Local pharmacists have free telephone stickers. The stickers name the poison control center and toll-free number which persons can call in an emergency. Also available free are baby sitters' guidelines, emergency phone numbers, what a baby sitter should know and things to do; home check lists for poison prevention and Protect Your Children posters that can be attached to walls, doors or medicine cabinets.

The posters provide permanent information on the general signs of poisoning.

What to have on hand, immediate first aid and procedures to protect children. St. John's Hospital in Springfield, Ill., is the location of the Central and Southern Illinois Regional Poison Information and Treatment Center, which provides poison prevention material and 24-hour service. The toll-free number is 1-800-232-2022.

While there still are a lot of poisonings, the number of serious injuries has declined. Poison experts attribute this to use of child-resistant packaging. Aspirin, once the most frequent cause of child poisonings, has fallen to fourth place, since "childproof" safety caps were required and the number of tablets in a bottle limited.

Camphorated oil may have been responsible for up to 4,000 accidental ingestions each year and has been taken off the shelves, due to high risk of accidental poisonings.

Prevention is the cure, the society stresses.

$1 billion hunting, fishing, wildlife activity in Illinois

More than one billion dollars are spent in Illinois each year by citizens pursuing fishing, hunting and wildlife associated activities.

David Kenney, director, Illinois Department of Conservation, has just released Illinois data collected by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service during the 1980 National Survey of Fishing, Hunting, and Wildlife Associated Recreation. The survey is undertaken every five years.

"Once the results are recorded," Kenney noted, "they are compiled into a national report and in 50 individual state reports. We received the Illinois report a few days ago."

The survey results were based on telephone sampling of 3,770 households in Illinois and 116,000 nationwide. Later, personal interviews were conducted with 550 persons in Illinois and 30,300 nationwide.

"Individual Illinois hunters spent an average of $379 per year," Kenney said. "The typical fisherman expended only slightly less, $373 per year, and participants in other wildlife-associated recreation spent an average of $139 per year."

The report showed 1.67 million sportsmen fished and/or hunted in Illinois during 1980. More than 90 percent were Illinois residents.

This total included 1.5 million anglers who spent nearly $550 million and 400,000 hunters who spent more than $150 million pursuing their sport. These expenditures included food, lodging, transportation, equipment, access fees and licenses.

Almost one-third of the anglers were less than 16 years old, and seven percent were senior citizens. Anglers above 16 fished a total of 29 million days in Illinois. The total number for all ages is estimated at 42 million fishing days, which is up noticeably from the 37 million fishing days reported in 1975.

The survey indicated that 100,000 of the hunters were exempted from purchasing a hunting license due to age or military service or because they hunted their own land.

Hunters of all ages spent 8.9 million days in the field in Illinois, down considerably from 1975, when 12.5 million hunting days were recorded.

"The decline in hunters and hunter trips does not indicate that people don't wish to enjoy this sport," Kenney said. "It does show that the opportunities to hunt are fewer than ever before."

"This phenomenon is due to a variety of factors. We have seen constant erosion of wildlife habitat, with the inevitable decline in game numbers, which means that Illinois hunters increasingly find it difficult to find a place to stage a productive, satisfying hunt. Another factor is that many species, especially upland game, had not totally recovered in 1980 from the severe winters in the late 1970s."

For the first time, the Fish and Wildlife Service attempted to gauge the extent of other wildlife-oriented recreation beyond hunting and fishing. It estimated seven million people from the age of six years and older participated in some form of nonconsumptive wildlife activity in 1980.

Director Kenney said these activities include photography, feeding and observing wildlife; 3.4 million of these people engaged in activities at home or conducted trips specifically for these purposes, spending $470 million for food, lodging, transportation and equipment.

GC van is taken, found; shots fired

Police in two states have been looking for two men who are suspects in theft and assault attempts at the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. A local van was the target of a theft attempt. Roland Cobine, an officer with the University Police, was nearly struck by an auto, in which one of the suspects fled from the East St. Louis Center parking lot after Cobine apparently interrupted a theft in progress Wednesday afternoon.

He received minor injuries when he attempted to stop the fleeing vehicle by reaching in the auto and turning off the ignition. The driver sped away, dragging the officer for a few feet before Cobine was able to remove himself from the vehicle.

Cobine said the suspect then circled the parking lot in the car, attempting to strike the officer.

Four shots fired by Cobine at the vehicle's rear tires failed to stop the auto, described as a 1975 cream-colored car with Missouri license plates. The vehicle then sped away and was recovered Wednesday night in north St. Louis, parked next to a tenement house.

Cobine was on duty inside the East St. Louis Center at 411 East Broadway when he was notified about 3 p.m. that two men were on the parking lot behind the Center, attempting to steal a van owned by a Granite City plumbing firm which has a contract for a project at the Center.

When Cobine arrived at the parking lot, two men ran from the van, one leaving the area on foot and the other running to the 1975 car, which also was parked on the lot. Both suspects ignored Cobine's orders to halt.

It later was determined that tools valued at $300 were missing from the van.

SCOUTING SKILLS are discussed by Brownie Scout Jodie and Junior Scout Laura Baker with Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler as he signs a proclamation calling upon area residents to give continued interest, cooperation, and support to the Girl Scouts through 1983. The public event was held at the YMCA where several troops gave demonstrations on skills in camping arts and crafts, first aid and science.

DENNIS TO ATTEND STATE CONFERENCE

Willie E. Dennis, president of the Madison Federation of Teachers, Local 763, attended the 45th Annual Convention of the Illinois Federation of Teachers, March 18 to 20, in Chicago.

About 600 delegates and guests from Illinois attended. The convention focused on the major financial problem facing Illinois schools. The devastating shortfall in state funding revenues and the need for an income tax increase will be discussed. According to Dennis, "The IFT has been a strong proponent of raising the state income tax for many years. Support for an income tax increase such as the one proposed by Governor Thompson has been cautious, however, until we get assurance that the schools will not be left out when the increased revenues are distributed."

Local women tell of China journey

Dr. Alice Purdes, president, has reminded members of Travelers Abroad that the club has entered its 18th year. Several character members were present as the program chairman Ernest Rouland, introduced Betty Townsend. With Dr. Purdes, she presented the evening's program, the second installment about China.

Slides were accompanied by taped and vocal narratives. Photos of the Peking (Beijing) area, showed China's ballet.

By western standards, the ballet was lacking in special lighting and scenery; costumes were the only props used.

The programs, which were in Chinese, did not enlighten the American visitors, they said. Sidewalk artists were shown, several specializing in birdcage and flower scenes. The hair of the bamboo art bush is supposed to be from a mouse's whiskers, the speakers said.

The entrance of Beijing Normal University features an imposing statue of Chairman Mao. There are 1,400 teachers and more than 5,000 students, including about 20 Americans, at this university.

The administrator of the university welcomed the local tourists through an interpreter, which made for a long process.

Dr. Purdes and Miss Townsend were with a group from Kent University that donated about 1,000 pounds of books to the university. The speakers took about 450 pounds of books to China from St. Louis.

After being accepted at the university, students do not have to pay for tuition, room and board, or medical service. The students are not allowed to marry while in college.

Upon graduation, each student is given a job by the government. Only one out of every 1,000 fails to graduate. The Chinese Communists regard education as one of the means for reaching their political, social and economic goals, it was noted.

About 25 miles from Beijing are the 13 imperial tombs of the Ming emperors, one of the great historical sites of China. The tombs have mountains on three sides and the fourth side opens into a valley.

The first Ming tomb, Chang Ling, was completed in 1427. Only that tomb and the Ding Ling tomb are presently open to the public. The road leading to the tombs is called the Sacred

Way or the Avenue of the Animals.

There are two pairs of six species of life-sized animals along the road, including elephants, camels, horses, lions, dogs and a mythical animal. One pair stands and the second pair crouches. There are also 12 statues of men representing ministers, warriors and civil officials.

The Chang Ling contains the Hall of Eminent Favor, constructed entirely of nanmu (teak) wood. Thirty-two pillars are within the hall, each made from a single tree, of which the largest is more than four feet in diameter.

Twelve of the tombs have Ming towers, each of which has a stone terrace on which sacrificial ceremonies are conducted.

A stone incense container, two candlesticks and two flower vases are the five utensils used in the ceremonies, the speakers explained.

Excavation of the Ding Ling started in 1955 and revealed an underground palace consisting of five halls made entirely of marble and granite.

Porcelain vats, wooden coffins and smaller lacquered wooden caskets containing gold, silver and precious stones, as well as ceremonial headgear, were discovered in Ding Ling.

The speakers flew from Beijing to Xian, an ancient capital of China. This city was the starting point in olden days for the 6,000-mile trip to Greece and Rome.

Some of the relics found in Xian date back to 6000 B.C. It was once the world's largest city and foreign merchants flocked there to trade. Marco Polo, from Italy, traded there early in the 1300s.

Now it is primarily known as a textile city of 1.5 million people, although electrical equipment manufacturing, cement mills and agriculture play important roles in its economy. Xian is off the normal tourist route and farmers who had brought their produce to the street markets found the local tourists to be attractions, to be stared at from all angles. Although there were no rickshaws, human-drawn carts were much in evidence.

A language teacher at the university had made the assignment that required them to go to the hotel and meet an English-speaking person.

After some conversation, the Chinese girls were invited to the speakers' room for a visit, but the gatekeeper, actually an armed military guard, refused to allow them into the hotel. Therefore, they visited outside the hotel in the city square.

The second night, the girls brought a friend along to meet the travelers and it became a nightly habit to talk and walk in the area outside the hotel.

Small gifts were exchanged and an invitation to the apartment home of one of the girls was extended. The apartment consisted of only one room on the fourth floor, with no running water, no elevator and no hall lights.

The mother of the girl is a teacher. Despite the room's broken windows, peeling paint and concrete floor, this was considered an affluent Chinese family. Possessions included a small television set, a small radio, a sewing machine and a bicycle.

The girls continue to write to the tourists since their visit to Xian.

A quick view was given of the area near Xian where Chiang Kai-Shek hid and was kidnapped during his efforts to block the Red Army and eliminate Communism. Chiang and his Nationalist government were driven into exile on the island of Taiwan.

Time prevented continuing the visual excursion in Xian. The next meeting will be Monday, March 28, with the program theme to be announced later.

Many pending bills related to education

By SAM W. WOLF
State Representative

A resurgence of cold weather at the State Capitol has not slowed discussion of the state's fiscal condition and its effect on educational funding.

The continuing recession has reduced state revenues and that will directly affect funding of existing educational programs for the next school year. As proposed in the governor's budget, elementary and secondary education will receive less money than in 1979.

For higher education, a 10 percent tuition increase may be proposed to offset the reduction in funds for state colleges and universities.

Scholarships awarded by the Illinois State Scholarship Commission could be reduced by 30,000 scholarships statewide. Thus, students should complete their scholarship application forms early while grant monies are available.

The State Board of Education will be considering the governor's proposals for school funding in the next four weeks. Recently, the board recommended changes in school programs currently mandated by law.

In some areas, the changes may reduce costs to local schools. Among the proposals being considered are:

— Reduction in class-size requirements for special education.

— Elimination of both classroom and behind-the-wheel instruction in driver education.

— A requirement for physical education in grades K-10, but only as an elective in grades 11-12. Presently, daily physical education is mandated in grades K-12.

— Allowing districts to develop local objectives for instructional programs that students must take, instead of the state mandating what subjects pupils must take and schools must offer.

— Elimination of the present requirement that a pupil's ethnic heritage and culture be taught. Bilingual education would be left to local discretion.

These are some of the programs we can expect to see in the form of legislation in the upcoming months.

Legislation already has been introduced that affects many different facets of the education field. Some of the bills being considered in House committees are:

SCHOOL TRANSPORTATION.

House Bill 286: Allows as a direct cost of transporting pupils, the cost of converting gas engines to more fuel efficient engines using alternative energy sources.

STATE AID FORMULA.

House Bill 235: Authorizes districts to provide full-day kindergarten and to count attendance on a full-day basis for determining state aid.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

House Bill 351: Provides that physical education activities be provided for students whose condition prevents participation in courses for non-handicapped children.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING.

House Bill 249: Grants employees of public elementary and secondary education schools and public community colleges the right to organize and to bargain collectively.

House Bill 355: Requires school boards to file with the regional superintendent a copy of a contract entered into with a recognized employee bargaining representative. If the board does not have a collective bargaining contract, it would file current copies of its written policies and salary schedules.

ELECTIONS.

Senate Bill 164: Prohibits persons holding a political party office from holding any elective or appointive office in any unit of local government or school district.

TEACHER RETIREMENT.

House Bill 197: Increases the minimum retirement benefit from $10 to $15 per month per year of service, and increases the maximum annuity from $300 to $450 a month.

Of the 700 pieces of legislation introduced in the Illinois House, these are some of the education issues being discussed.

I may or may not support this legislation, but I do hope that people will call or write my office on these and other issues that are important to them.

As the legislative session heats up and more and more bills are introduced, we as representatives will be dealing with a variety of important issues.

I hope that those with information on these significant education matters will call or write me. The more information I have on the effects of these proposals, the better.

Chemetco slag piles authorized

The Madison County Board last week approved a recommendation from the county zoning board of appeals to allow Chemetco, Inc., to locate slag piles on plant property in Chouteau Township.

The plant is located at Highway Three and Oldenburg Road.

The special use permit contains four stipulations including "containment levees and ditches to contain the runoff and channel it to proper treatment in the wastewater treatment facility operated by Chemetco."

Second, "The water should be treated before it is discharged into any stream." The company also must make efforts to "dispose of the slag as soon as possible." The final requirement calls for the Madison County Environmental Control Laboratory to make periodic lab tests on discharge entering canal waters.

The board also approved three recommendations for permits in Nameoki Township.

Lois Abernathy was allowed to place a single-width mobile home at 4123 Division St. A flower shop will be established in an existing business building at 1700 Courtenay Blvd. in a single-family residence area.

At the request of David Pride and Loren Nichols, a tract of land near the end of Rene Avenue off Collinsville Road was changed from residential zoning to designation as a wholesale business district.

A permit also was granted allowing Fred I. Flaughter to place a mobile home at 2642 North St. in the Bloodworth subdivision of Venice Township.

MOTORIST INJURED, CHARGED IN CRASH

Dennis M. Roderick, 35, of 2720 National Ave., was charged with leaving the scene of an accident with property damage, following a mishap last week in the 2400 block of Washington Avenue. His car allegedly was traveling south on Washington and was parked auto owned by John James, 2421 Washington.

The motorist was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of a cut on the head. He told officers that he dropped a soft drink on the floor of his car, bent to pick it up and thought he had struck curbing rather than a vehicle. His auto was extensively damaged.

Economic development panel named

Governor James R. Thompson has announced formal organization of the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs' Illinois Development Board (IDB), a panel designed to serve as the state's principal economic development advisory board. Members include Robert G. Gibson, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor.

"The IDB is a direct result of a unique effort set in motion six months ago," Thompson said. "The initial steering committee of the board was formed in late 1982 and was challenged to prove the need and value of the concept."

"Since then, the steering committee has been extremely active on a wide range of programs, from establishing an Illinois presence in Japan, to developing recommendations for small businesses, to more effectively using services offered by DCCA."

The IDB will be composed of members from the 18 public and private advisory groups now working with DCCA, plus new members drawn from business throughout the state. DCCA Director Peter B. Fox said the IDB will be asked to consolidate and coordinate Illinois economic development efforts in conjunction with DCCA, whose chief goal is creating and retaining jobs.

Courts terminate 4,497 Feb. cases

The volume of pending cases in Circuit Court, Third Judicial Circuit (Madison and Bond counties), decreased during February by 441 cases and progress was made in catching up currency in time-consuming large lawsuits and felonies.

According to the circuit's report to the Supreme Court Administrative Office, 4,068 cases were filed and 4,497 cases were terminated during February.

In releasing the report, Willard V. "Butch" Portell, circuit clerk, noted, "February, being a short month and also a winter month, is never very productive. However, this February showed an excellent gain in terminations over filings."

"There is a significant gain in the large law cases and the pending cases are at a new low for the last six years. The chief judge A. Andreas Mateosian and I are satisfied with the report," he concluded.

Following are the numbers of each major type of case filed, terminated and pending at the end of February.

Totals	1,193	1,436	12,939

In the traffic division, 2,437 new cases were filed during February and 2,602 were terminated, the report shows.

Of the 71 felony defendants whose cases were heard during the month, 44 were convicted of felonies, 16 charges were dismissed or consolidated with other cases and 11 were reduced to misdemeanors. One defendant was convicted by a jury of a Class X felony and one was convicted of a Class Two felony.

Guilty pleas during February included seven for Class X felonies, one for Class One felonies, nine for Class Two felonies, 21 for Class Three felonies and four for Class Four felonies.

Felony sentences during the month included 21 persons sent to prisons, three receiving probation with conditional imprisonment and 20 receiving probations or conditional discharges with other conditions.

IP acts to further reduce expenditures

Illinois Power Company has announced plans to cut expenditures another $9 million for 1983 and 1984. This is in addition to the cuts announced last September of approximately $36 million.

These cost-cutting measures were disclosed in a report filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission in response to provisions of a rate order issued on Jan. 12.

The report includes a review of the savings that were achieved in 1981 and 1982 and the cost-cutting activities that will be implemented for 1983 and 1984 by the company.

"The management of Illinois Power believes the efficient level of its operations, the reductions in cash requirements achieved through 1982, and the further reductions in expenditures and the cash flow improvements planned for 1983 and 1984 demonstrate the company's ongoing commitment to controlling costs and improving productivity," the report said. "The company will continue to search for ways to achieve these goals and, thereby, meet its responsibilities to customers, stockholders, employees and the communities it serves."

In addition to monitoring controlling expenditures through the budget preparation and review process detailed in the report, the company also formed an internal Cost Reduction Task Force in 1981 to identify projects and activities that could be eliminated, reduced or deferred.

The task force last fall recommended reductions of approximately $36 million in 1983 and $48 million for 1984 in the areas of personnel, construction, and inventory.

The projected additional savings in expenditures for 1983 and 1984, in that order, are: Clinton construction, $4.2 million and none (up $500,000); non-Clinton construction, 2.4 million and .5 million; and miscellaneous, 1.3 million and .9 million, totaling $7.9 million in 1983 and $9.9 million in 1984.

Petitions to make certain policy changes also were filed today by the company.

The major rules changes include: Elimination of free underground electric service, which would offset the company's costs by $500,000 in 1983 and 1984. Customers who desire such service would pay the cost in excess of that for overhead lines under the proposed changes.

Elimination of free gas service facilities for residential customers, which would offset costs by $350,000 in each of two years. Presently, up to 50 feet of gas line extension is provided at no cost to the customer.

FREE CPR CLASS TUESDAY AT SEMC

Each year, heart attacks account for more than 350,000 deaths which occur before the victim reaches the hospital. It doesn't have to be that way.

What is done for a victim within the first few minutes after a heart attack may determine survival or death. Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) could make the difference, and anyone can learn it.

CPR is a basic life-saving technique performed after a person has suffered "cardiac arrest" — that is, after the heart has stopped beating. It provides emergency life support until more advanced support is available, through a combination of chest compression and mouth-to-mouth breathing.

A trained instructor, certified by the American Heart Association, teaches CPR. It takes hours, but it could mean a lifetime. Free CPR classes will be conducted at St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Tuesday, March 22, from 5 to 10 p.m. in Pascal Hall. Registration can be made by calling 798-3169.

Less school lunch fraud

The school lunch application forms which schools began using last year are helping to curb fraud and abuse in the National School Lunch Program, according to a study released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Assistant Secretary Mary Jarrett said the forms resulted in 10 percent fewer applications approved for free meal benefits in schools taking part in the study. The number of approved reduced-price applications was about 15 percent lower.

Beginning in the fall of 1981, the law required applications for free and reduced-price meals to include the Social Security numbers of all adult household members and a listing of current income. Previously, the forms had required only names, household size, total income and the signature of the parent or guardian.

"It looks like the new application process is working effectively against misstatements of income in the lunch program," she said. "That means that the money available for special assistance for free and reduced price meals is going to those for whom it was intended — the needy."

Microcomputers at teachers' institute

The 1983 Madison County Teachers' Institute, set for Friday, March 25, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the Meridian Ballroom of the University Center.

This year's program will be highlighted by three special features. Each feature will offer several different sessions all dealing with the same general topic.

One of these features will be "Youth on Parade." Madison County students involved in instrumental and vocal music as well as drama will give half-hour performances throughout the day.

A second major feature will focus on computers. Six sessions dealing with the use of microcomputers for educational purposes will be offered from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Some of these sessions will provide "hands-on" experiences for teachers, and others will be introductory presentations.

A third special feature will emphasize participatory activities involving the design and creation of classroom instructional materials, works of art, and the designing of special projects for classroom use.

In addition, the annual institute will offer more than 30 specific-purpose sessions covering a wide range of current topics in education, geared to all levels and areas of instruction.

More than 40 commercial exhibits of educational instructional products will be on display in Goshen Lounge.

Teacher federation talks by Democrats

Financial problems facing Illinois schools was the major theme of the 45th annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Teachers from 8 p.m. Friday to noon Sunday at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Chicago.

Delegates representing more than 47,000 Illinois teachers assembled to hear reports from union leaders, make decisions on union policy for the upcoming year, and listen to Illinois Senate President Philip Rock, Speaker of the House Mike Madigan and State Comptroller Roland Burris. All three are Democrats.

IFT President Robert Healey, in his annual "state of the union" message, not only targeted the state's budget but also the state's income tax and mapped out a union strategy in support of tax hikes and other means of increasing school revenues.

State School Supt. Donald Gill and Cook County Supt. Richard Martwick also appeared.

of the University Center. Public schools in Madison County and some non-public schools will be closed March 25 so that teachers may attend.

Harold E. Briggs, regional superintendent of schools in Madison County, anticipates that more than 4,000 teachers from the county will convene at the campus.

All certified teachers, whether or not employed, are invited to attend and guests are also welcome to participate in the day's activities.

Programs have been distributed to teachers who are actively employed in Madison County schools. Other teachers who are presently inactive or retired can obtain a copy of the program through the Office of the regional superintendent, 692-4530. As in the past, teachers from Macoupin County school districts also will be in attendance.

Briggs voiced praise for the advisory committee for this year's institute. The master program has been in the planning process since October 1982, when the first committee meeting was held.

Members of the representative committee include professional educators from every public school district as well as non-public schools in Madison County, with representation from Macoupin County.

"The challenge to develop a program that meets the diverse needs of all certified educators in the region requires commitment on the part of all on the committee," Briggs commented.

Serving on this year's advisory committee are: Dee Hordecky, Roxana; William Hyten, Triad; Perreia Dandridge, Venice; Beverly Williams, Livingston; John Heath and Jenna Hlander, Highland; William Collman and Doris Dankenbring, Edwardsville; Glenda Hefflin, Bethalto; Dorothy Bailey and Robert McBride, Granite City; Roy Schaefer, Lincoln; Rod Woods, Collinsville; Joyce Ashpole and W. Dean Taylor, Alton; Sue Borstein and Madison High Principal Daniel Kostencki, Madison; Paul Hellrung, East Alton elementary; Linda Hudock, East Alton-Wood River high school; Barbara Foster and Richard Sanders, Wood River-Hartford elementary; Judy Maxson, Worden; and representing the non-public schools, Mildred Hamilton of LeClaire Catechist, Child Development Center in Edwardsville and Bob Whippley of Zion Lutheran School in Bethalto, Macoupin County committee members are Betty Robey, Vern Knop, Jerry Grandone and Dr. Charles Heina.

Members of the coordinating committee whose task it is to implement plans formulated by the advisory committee are Juanita Gosch and Dr. Stefan Robert Blechoff of GCHS North, computer-assisted instruction; Joanne Higgins of Granite City, adapted physical education for special pupils; Shirley Blasingame of Granite City, employment exploration; and Dr. Janet Nazeri, truant officer, with the assistance of Owen Humphrey, consultant.

The featured speaker will be George Waller, a nationally known educator and speaker at school conventions and conferences.

In "No Man Is An Island," he will discuss on the primary importance of teachers and children in the educative process. His talk is set for 8:30. Speakers will include Robert Blechoff of GCHS North, computer-assisted instruction; Joanne Higgins of Granite City, adapted physical education for special pupils; Shirley Blasingame of Granite City, employment exploration; and Dr. Janet Nazeri, truant officer, with the assistance of Owen Humphrey, consultant.

Moderators will include Ricky Everage, Lena Rush and Margie McGarran all of Venice; Mildred Collins and Robert Burns, Granite City; Wanda Graham and Dolores Folkerts, Madison; and Principal William R. Rankin of Johnson School, Granite City.

When authorities approached the automobile, they found the driver was a juvenile. She did not have a driver's license. She said the people in the front seat of the automobile were her parents.

Mrs. Roe told deputies that the juvenile was her daughter and they lived in Granite City.

The deputy also spoke with Towerly, 32, who identified himself as the girl's father and said she was 16 and did not have a driver's license. He allegedly told authorities that the girl was driving because he had no license and his ex-wife had no license.

The girl was given a citation for not having a valid driver's license. Officials said that after issuing the citation to the girl and citations to Towerly and Mrs. Roe for allowing the juvenile to drive, Mrs. Roe had to be restrained when she tried to kick a deputy. A back-up unit had arrived by then and deputies allege that Mrs. Roe shoved both of-

The woman told deputies her name was Carole L. Towerly and she lived at 2929 Pershing Blvd. Her name really is Carole L. Roe, 37, authorities allege. She and Danny L. ## Area Council PTA honors past officers at dinner

The 32nd anniversary of the organization of the Granite City Area Council PTA was observed at an awards banquet held at the Community Club of the Granite City Army Installation, last week.

A theme of "Spring" was used with floral arrangements and butterflies, in yellow, white and green hues, serving as table centerpieces.

The evening opened with the invocation by Mrs. V. J. Brazier, past PTA president, State of Illinois, followed by the pledge of allegiance to the flag and singing of God Bless America, led by Mrs. June Branding.

J. Davis, Gene Briggs, Madison County Superintendent of Schools, Phyllis Gorrell, past president Granite City Area Council PTA and Barbara Haddock, past president Area Council PTA and District Director 29. ## History of quilts is program topic

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the DAR held its March meeting in the Chimney Room of the Burns Cafeteria with ten members and four guests present.

Mrs. Barbara Williams, regent, called the meeting to order followed by the pledge of allegiance and the American's Creed. Mrs. Jo Ann Burcky read the President General's message with Mildred McCormick giving the national defense report. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and the treasurer's report was given. Mrs. Linda Koenig shared a safety tip concerning space heaters and wood stoves, during the session.

Mrs. Emma Schoen presented the proposed slate of officers for the next two years. Linda Loenig then reported on a project, the Junior American Citizen Club, she worked on with her second grade class. The class studied American history and worked on a special bulletin board which won an Area Council PTA award in February.

It was announced that Emma Schoen, Janet Wilson, and Barbara Williams would attend state conference in Peoria. Janet Wilson will also attend Continental Congress in Washington D.C. in April.

Mrs. Augusta Lampe, the guest speaker, spoke on the history of quilts. From 1800-1840 very few colors were used. Finally women started gathering various barks and berries to use as dye for new colors of thread. In these early years only wool was used in quilts so no batting was needed, just two thicknesses of wool. During this era women would use their imaginations to see patterns that could be used in quilts, she explained. Others attending were Ella Ray Smith, Mae McCormick, Eva Renfro, Ethel Beeler, Janet Wilson, and guests Lucinda Huck, Helen Krumsick, Carrie Durrell, and the guest speaker Augusta Lampe.

Lanphier keeps Class AA title downstate

By JIM SCHLUETER

CHAMPAIGN — When the Class AA regional were beginning, nobody was thinking about Springfield Lanphier. State ranking? Sorry, Lions, you're not in the top 16.

But Lanphier has changed all that. The unheralded Lions cut down some mighty big teams in postseason play and they didn't stop until they won the state tournament Saturday at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall.

That was when a long-punged inside attack and a coach's son named Moose led the Lions to a 57-53 win in the championship game over Peoria Central.

Kevin Gamble, a 6-7 forward led Springfield with 19 points and six rebounds, while 6-8 sophomore Ed Horton fired in 18 points and pulled down nine rebounds to provide a devastating inside attack.

And then there was the Moose, coach Bob Nika's son, who became the tournament favorite. The 6-5 guard was Lanphier's field general, and he won the crowd's heart with his long-range jump shots.

When he connected the Springfield crowd would chant his name, but the Lanphier fans did little chanting in the final as Peoria shut him down. He only had two points going into the final quarter, and Peoria was ahead 39-38.

But the Moose led off the quarter with a 10-footer. After Peoria scored, Nika fired one in from 19 feet and then he scored a breakaway layup. Lanphier was never headed after that, although Peoria did tie the game at 51-51 with 1:14 left in the game.

But the Moose took command and worked the ball inside twice, one time to Horton and one time to Gamble. Both big men were fouled and they both made their free throws to give Lanphier a 56-51 lead with 35 seconds left, and the Lions were able to hold on.

"We just worked a game between Moose and Gamble," Nika said. "Before the season I thought Gamble was one of the best five players in the state, and he proved it."

With both semifinal games decided with one second left, Nika was aware his team made the best of some good breaks. He should know what it takes to win. His 1977 Lanphier team finished second at state.

"The tournament was very even; the scores are indicative of that," Nika said. "If we played it again, someone else would have probably won it. Six or seven of the eight teams could have won it."

Lanphier took a 12-10 lead after the first quarter and stretched the lead to 28-20 at the half. Peoria seemed determined to get the ball inside of Springfield's 1-2-3 zone defense, but Central's best weapon was 5-10 guard Tony Wysinger.

Wysinger, a deadly shooter, scored 21 points and was 10 of 17 from the field. Lamont Hanson and Ivan Stone were Central's inside threats, but Lanphier's big men had too much size. They scored 14 points apiece.

Notes: Lanphier ended the season at 30-3, while Peoria Central dropped to 28-4. In the third-place game, Harvey Thornton defeated Chicago Marshall 65-64.

Experience, hitting are North's pluses

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — There's no question that Granite City North's baseball team will be able to hit the ball this year.

The question that North coach Bob Stegemeier has to answer is whether the Steelers have enough manpower to keep opponents from scoring.

"Our pitching is our only big question mark. We only have six pitchers, and that's not too many to go into a season. If we run up short, we might have dug into our sophomores as the season goes on," Stegemeier said.

There is little doubt Granite City North has strong hitting. Steve Trittschuh, North's top hitter last year with a .333 average, Daren DePew, who hit .341, and Brian Levin, who hit .325, all come back for a final year.

In fact, the entire starting infield returns for North. Trittschuh will handle the duties at third base, Levin will be at shortstop again, Ken Patterson will play at second base, Rod Hessler is back at first base, and DePew, a three-year letterman, will be the catcher.

Besides being the hitting leader last year, Trittschuh led the team in RBIs (30) and home runs (five).

"Our hitting should be very strong, and our hitters have good power. They are all decent hitters last season," Stegemeier said.

The outfield won't be quite as experienced as the infield. Dave Shiekh is the one returning letterman, and seniors Dave Gebhardt and Benny Nolan and junior Terry Rutawitz are competing for the other two starting spots.

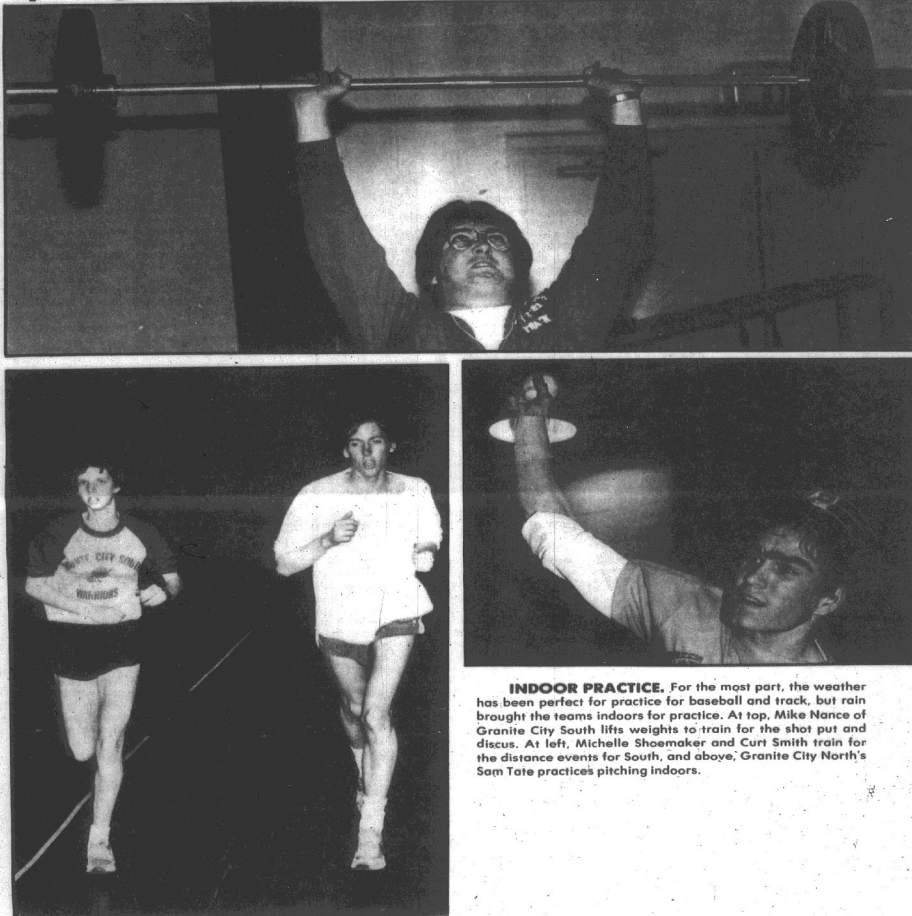

The Steelers have two returning seniors, Ray Takmajian and Jim Burton, to handle some of the pitching. Juniors Sam Tate, Dan Whitsett, Greg Levin and Billy Henke will also pitch for North.

"We have a senior dominated team this year, and since this will be the last Granite City North team, they'll want to go out in a blaze of glory," Stegemeier said. "When the wrestlers found out this would be North's last season, they decide to go out strong. Our boys have a good attitude and they want to keep working hard to the end."

North has few weak teams on the schedule this year. Besides a balanced Gateway East Conference race, which includes Class AA state qualifier Edwardsville, North will play defending Class A champion New Lenox, Providence and Class A runnerup Hillsboro this season.

Edwardsville's is supposed to have quite few coming back from last year, and Althoff's going to be good. South is always competitive, and Cahokia will be very competitive," Stegemeier said.

Spring Training

INDOOR PRACTICE. For the most part, the weather has been perfect for practice for baseball and track, but rain forced the teams indoors for practice. At top, Mike Nance of Granite City South lifts weights to train for the shot put and discus. At left, Michelle Shoemaker and Curt Smith train for the distance events for South, and above, Granite City North's Sam Tate practices pitching indoors.

Inexperience, injury tax GCS baseball

By STEVE WHITWORTH
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — It's going to be something of a wait-and-see season for the Granite City South Warriors' baseball team, according to their coach, John Modica.

Modica is uncertain about how his team will fare this year, mainly because he has so few returning lettermen; in fact, he only has six of them. Of those six, only one returns with experience pitching in game situations.

"I really don't know where we'll wind up this year," Modica said. "I haven't seen our other boys play that much."

The Warriors finished 4-4 in the Gateway East Conference last season and Modica said they could have done a little better. He named Edwardsville and Belleville Althoff as the toughest members of the league last year.

"We do have our whole outfield back," Modica said. "But, we lost everybody from the infield. We don't have a lot of depth, especially in our infield."

With only one pitcher returning, Modica said he will have to let some of his outfielders take a turn on the mound. Senior Dominic Griffin is the lone holdover from last year's staff.

The experienced outfielders include John Linhart, a senior who quarterbacked the football Warriors for the last two years, as well as seniors Tom Newton and Mark Vanzo. According to Modica, Newton and Vanzo are likely to see dual duty as pitchers and flycatchers.

Modica called Linhart a "good strong boy." He finished second on the team in batting average as a junior when he hit at a .350 clip last year.

The coach expected to get some catching help from senior Vince Mitchell, who transferred to South this year from Granite City North. He will be assisted behind the plate by junior Jim Moulden.

There's not much experience on the Warriors' infield, but three seniors will be given a chance to win a spot. Tom Stegemeier, the son of Granite City North baseball coach Bob Stegemeier, will probably begin the season at first base. Phil Dudak will be tried at second base and Darrell Elmore at third.

Junior Randy Thurman is expected to start at shortstop. But, Modica expects that he might have to experiment with an infield, especially as he brings in his outfielders to pitch.

The pitching staff suffered a blow when they lost the services of senior George Diak, who made a strong showing last year. An arm injury put him out of action for this year.

"Our defense should be adequate," Modica said. "We'll just have to see how our pitching and hitting turn out. It takes all three to win."

The best and worst of high school basketball

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

The only thing that is easily predicted in high school basketball is how unpredictable the sport is.

The 1982-83 basketball season was no exception. Many teams did much better than what people expected them to do. Others did as well as expected, and still others performed far below what was expected.

The Metro-East area had examples of all three this year. Teams like Madison and Venice did quite a bit more than what was expected. Teams like Collinsville and East St. Louis Lincoln did more than what was expected, and teams like Belleville East and Lovejoy didn't come close to what the experts expected them to do.

At the beginning of the season, Madison's coaching staff really didn't expect much from this year's team, and for good reason. With no returning starters, the Trojans weren't going to be an experienced team.

The Trojans could have also been called the "No Name" Trojans. Madison simply didn't have a main man like Barry Sumpter or Marty Simmons who could spark a team.

When the Trojans lost to Venice for the first time since 1975 in their opener, some of those fears seemed to be confirmed. However, Madison exploited balance and depth to win.

By state playoff time, the Trojans were primed. They mastered Sumpter and the gunning guards of Lovejoy to win the regional title. They knocked off previously undefeated Bunker Hill and up-and-coming Vandalla to win the sectional. It took Simmons and his "Mule Train" from Lawrenceville to stop Madison at playoff time.

The play of John Hughes, Victor Valentine and Michael Young ensured strong ball handling and superb defense. Leroy Pryor was a threat from inside and out, and Terry Hamilton and Keith Wyatt gave Madison some muscle inside.

Each Trojan had a role to play, and coach Larry Graham and assistant coach Dave Hodges made sure they knew their roles. The Trojans definitely had a winning combination this year.

Of course, Madison went farther in the state tournament than any other area Class A team, but inch for inch, Venice was the best Class A team in the area.

Most teams which do not have a starter over 5-foot-10 are doomed to failure. On paper, Venice looked weak, but on the court, the Red Devils were amazing.

Despite being short, they knew how to get in position for the rebounds. They knew how to get down the court quickly to set up the defense, and they knew how to score.

Eddie Salmond, Phillip White, William Watts, Keith Marchbanks and Darren Wise proved all season long you do have to be tall to play basketball. Quickness, shooting ability and intelligence can go a long way to make up for size.

The Red Devils won the Freeburg Holiday Tournament, finished second to Madison at the DuPont Invitational, and lost to much taller Lovejoy in the regionals. The Red Devils opened the season by winning their first 13 games before losing.

The Red Devils also performed beyond what Venice coach Ken Perkins expected. Next year, Salmond, White and Watts will be back. The Red Devils should be short but sweet.

Other teams which performed beyond expectations were Belleville Althoff, which advanced to the finals of the Salem Sectionals, and Cahokia, which won the Gateway East Conference despite its inexperience.

Even though Granite City North's 3-21 record doesn't say the Steelers performed better than expected, North did improve substantially throughout the season.

The Steelers didn't have the talent to compete with teams like Collinsville, but North played beyond their talents and gave Belleville East and other teams respectable contests. In North's final season, the Steelers put a lot more heart into their games than many other teams with better talent.

Teams like Lincoln and Collinsville did exactly what was expected of them. Lincoln advanced to the "Elite Eight" before Springfield Lanphier, the surprise team of the Class AA state tournament, defeated the Tigers Friday.

Collinsville, which finished 18-8 this season, surprised many people by winning the Southwestern Conference this season. Belleville East was picked by most to win the SWC, but the Lancers faded, allowing Collinsville to music its way to the title. The Kahoks lost to Lincoln in the first round of the sectionals.

Edwardsville was expected to be an above average team, and the Tigers were above average. Like any above average team, the Tigers pulled some mild upset, including a sectional win over Alton, a team that beat Edwardsville two times before that.

Finally, there are the disappointing teams in the area.

A mildly disappointing team this year was Granite City South. The Warriors had the talent to come close to .500 this season, but South relied on one player too much to become an effective team. Pat Linhart was a much improved player and they knew it, but he couldn't carry South by himself.

The biggest disappointment this year was Lovejoy. With Sumpter and guards Darryn Foster and Von Miller, Lovejoy should have been unbeatable in Class A circles.

Lovejoy coach Ted Daniels knew he had the potential for something great.

Unfortunately for Daniels, he the third head coach for Lovejoy in three years, and he had a hard time building discipline in the program. Discipline was the reason why Madison was able to beat a more talented Lovejoy team in the regional finals.

Maybe the Lovejoy School Board will learn its lesson and let Daniels stay awhile to build a basketball program. Daniels is a good coach, and he should be given a chance to prove himself.

The other major disappointment in the area was Belleville East. The Lancers, with giants like Gary Leonard and Barry Switzer, were expected to run away with SWC and the regional.

The Lancers won neither.

Nevertheless, the thrills and disappointment of the area's teams made this basketball season as exciting as any other.

"It's a lot more hectic than it was last season," McClain said. "But everyone

Local area welcoming a college

Beginning in 1983-84, the Quad-City area will have a two-year college, the Granite City Center of District 522.

Revenue and costs (top of page) since 1974 at Belleville Area College indicate how fund balances declined and then increased.

The map shows Illinois' 39 colleges; BAC is south of Lewis and Clark. In the list of graduating classes and numbers attending BAC, schools (in order) are Collinsville, North, South, Highland, Madison, St. Paul, Triad, Venice. Projections show 20, 25 or 33% attendance.

The Dist. 522 map gives the % and number going to BAC. Participation is greater near the BAC campus than in distant areas, where enrollment is expected to rise with the opening of centers in GC and in the south.

Information at the lower right outlines staff changes that lowered the college's yearly operating costs by $620,795.
